

Open Access Mandate

Brunel University London is committed to Open Research, the practice of making the processes and outputs of research transparent and freely accessible wherever possible.

Open Access (OA) improves the dissemination and visibility of our research outputs and raises the impact of our research, in line with our strategic goal to strengthen the

Advice on Compliance

Scope

All research output types are subject to items 1 to 4 of this mandate. Journal articles, conference proceedings and open access monographs are also subject to item 5.

Research Data are considered to be research outputs however they are not automatically covered by this Mandate. However, all publications should include a Data Access Statement